

HOWARD B. JACKSON

Partner / Nashville

hjackson@fordharrison.com / P: 615-574-6702

Howard Jackson focuses his practice on advising employers in matters related to employment litigation and traditional labor.

Howard has represented employers in many labor and employment law settings from counter-organizing campaigns, to NLRB litigation, to employment discrimination cases and employee restrictive agreement litigation. Understanding that prevention is the best medicine, Howard frequently counsels and trains employers to find positive outcomes and minimize risk. In that vein, here are some well worn words to ponder, and remember, because they are helpful. There are three sides to every story, yours, mine, and the truth.

Before attending law school, Howard earned a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Management from the Georgia Institute of Technology, and a Master of Divinity from Duke University. He enjoys exercising, college football and basketball, participation in his church (Concord United Methodist), and spending time with his wife, Alison, and their grandchildren.
